Jeffers-Cain.

The Methodist Church was well filled Wednesday afternoon with the friends and relatives of the contracting parties to witness the marriage of Mr. Albert G. Jeffers and Miss Ollie Cain, which took place at one and a half o'clock on that day. Promptly on time the couple entered the Church, preceded by the ushers, Messrs Robert B. Franklin and Emmet T. Quin, on the right aisle, and Messrs B. L. Bryant, of Versailles, and Ben. H. McEwan on the left. When they reached the altar the ushers crossed over and took position on the right and left, while the bride and groom passed between them and halted immediately in front of the officiating minister, Rev. Dr. C. W. Miller, who stood ready to receive them. The Doctor then, in his most impressive style, proceeded to make them man and wife, after which the bridal party repaired to the residence of the bride's father, and remained until the 2:40 train arrived, when they left for a few day's visit to Louisville.

The bride looked unusually sweet in a garnet colored silk and velvet dress, with hat to match.

The Church was darkened from without and brilliantly illuminated from within, and the music was sweet and elegantly executed by Mrs. John W. Rodman, and everything "went merry as a marriage bell."

A difficulty occurred in Hardinsville, Shelby county, Thursday afternoon, between James Bright and Alfred Bently in which Bright was shot four times, and now lies in a critical condition, the chances being very much against his recovery. It seems there had been a grudge existing between the parties ever since our fair, in September, and Bently was a part owner of the building in which Bright kept a bar-room, which was becoming such a nuisance that steps were taken to eject him from the premises, Bently having applied that morning to a magistrate for a writ of ejectment. In going to his work in the afternoon, Bently had to pass Bright's door, and when Bright saw him, came out with a pistol in his hand and commenced cursing and abusing him. Bently moved down the street, warning Bright not to follow him, but he kept advancing until Bently drew his pistol and turned on him, both firing at the same time. Bright was drinking and fired wide of his mark, but every shot of Bently's took effect. Bright was shot in the hand, in the side, in the back of the head, and one ball entered the mouth just above the mustache, on the left side of the nose, and lodged in the neck, which is the most dangerous of the four wounds. Bently was arrested and held in one hundred dollar's bond, and will have his examining trial to-day, when it is thought he will be acquitted, as it was a clear case of self defense.

The children of the Baptist's Sunday-school are picnicing to-day on Taylors Hill.

The steam fire engine has been overhauled this week. Meek & Ferguson did the job.

Sale-Murphy.

The announcement of the marriage of Mr. H. Clay Sale, of Louisville, and Miss Jennie Murphy, of this city, drew a large crowd to the Baptist Church at 12 o'clock, noon, Thursday. The Church had been handsomely decorated with flowers, the pulpit was filled, from floor to ceiling, with plants and pot flowers, and hanging baskets were suspended on each side. The reading desk was removed and in its place was a stand bearing a beautiful design of flowers, representing a bow and arrow, with the arrow piercing a heart. Suspended above the altar was a horse shoe of white flowers (an emblem of good luck) with the letters "M. S." entwined within it.

The gentlemanly ushers, Messrs. Jas. G. Dudley, jr., Thos. Macklin, Lewis Craig, John Milam, Sam. D. Johnson, of this city, and Nathan Quillin, of Georgetown, were attentive and polite, finding seats for as many as could be accommodated, and in every possible way administered to the comfort of the audience.

As the city clock pealed the hour of high noon, the bridal party arrived and entered the Church in the following order: On the left came Messrs. Craig and Milam, ushers, followed by Miss Theresa Berryman, of Versailles, and Miss Annie Steele, of Louisville; Miss Josie Murphy of this city and Miss Mary Lemon, of Georgetown. On the right came Messrs. Johnson and Quillin, ushers, followed by Messrs. Hardy Collins, Charles Long, Henley Middleton and Al. Dick, all of Louisville, and they by Messrs. Macklin and Dudley, ushers. After these had reached the altar, crossed over and taken their positions, the bride and groom-elect entered the Church at the right door and proceeded to the altar, where the officiating minister, Rev. Dr. J. M. Lewis, stood ready to receive them. Perfect silence reigned, save the sweet subdued tones of the organ, as the Doctor, in his best and most graceful style, made the young couple man and wife. The ceremony was beautiful and impressive, and filled all present with the solemnity of the occasion.

After the benediction, the party left the Church by the left aisle, and, taking carriage, repaired to the residence of the bride's mother, where an elegant repast was spread, only the attendants, and a limited number of friends and relatives being present.

The happy couple took their departure on the 2:40 train for their future home in Louisville, carrying with them the wishes of a host of friends for their future prosperity and happiness.

The bride was arrayed in an elegant brocaded satin, trimmed with natural flowers and real lace, covered by a bridal veil, ornamented with natural flowers.

WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT.

CLAUDE BUCKLEY.

GEO. A. LEWIS.

BUCKLEY & LEWIS,
Editors and Publishers.

TERMS.

The WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT is published every Saturday, at one dollar per annum, invariably in advance.

Six months, 50 cents; three months, 25 cents. Money may be sent by post-office money order, or registered letter at our risk.

Notice of Marriages, Births, and Deaths inserted free of charge. Obituary notices will be charged for at our regular advertising rates.

FRANKFORT, OCTOBER 18, 1879.

Messrs. John Gault & Co. have the contract for repairing the bridge over the mouth of Benson and are pushing the work forward with a will. The old timbers of the floor, which were entirely too light in the first place, are being removed and heavier ones put in, and when completed, it will be much more substantial than when first built. They expect to complete the work to-day.

Mr. Sidney French, of this city, was elected Grand Worthy Counselor of the State of Kentucky by the Grand Lodge of Good Templars, in session at Louisville this week. This is a well merited compliment to an earnest worker in the cause of temperance, and we know that Sid. will give a good account of himself during the coming year. We hope next fall to see him promoted to Grand Worthy Chief Templar.

Mr. S. C. Black, Colporter of the American Bible Society, ended his canvass of Franklin county the present week, with the following report:

Families visited	1,247
Families found destitute	227
Destitute families supplied	215
Destitute individuals supplied	113
Number of Bibles and Testaments sold	242
Value of books sold	$97.40
Number of books donated	328
Value of books donated	$87.65

This is the only canvass of the county made in the past four years. It was accomplished in just two months. Mr. Black has done his work well, and deserves great credit for it. The cause of religion and morality in the county will be greatly benefitted by it. Years of blessing will follow this thorough distribution of the living Word of God.

OBITUARY.

DIED.—At Cleveland, Ohio, on Friday, October 19th, Miss ANNIE T. McCLEURE in the 23d year of her age.

The family circle has again been broken—the second time in one short year—and this time ANNIE has been claimed, almost paralysing us in the suddenness of the announcement. The first intimation that came over the wires was "ANNIE died at 8 o'clock," away from home, with no loving brothers or sisters by, so eager to soothe and comfort her; away from the widowed mother, to whom she seemed as the one lamb left to her, in the fold, so hopefully waiting and watching for her loved one to return, restored to health, and just as her hopes were brightest were they shattered and trailed in the dust. ANNIE's share of pain was very great, so great that she welcomed death—yes, longed for it—as a sweet relief from suffering, and we can but rejoice, for her sake that she is now where "God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes" and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain." We could not wish her back as far as she herself is concerned, only because of the void in the aching hearts that loved her so well.

A beautiful dream she had the night before she died the following lines, in a measure, describe:

"Angel forms are o'er me bending,
Angels wait beside the door!
And I hear sweet voices blending
Over on the other shore.
I am done with care and sorrow,
Soon in fadeless fields I'll roam;
Cease your weeping, dearest mother,
I am only going home!"

WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT.

FRANKFORT, OCTOBER 18, 1870.

Circuit Court meets Monday.

A shooting gallery is now one of the attractions of Main street.

Four weddings this week, and many more souls anxious to be made happy.

The bridge across the mouth of Benson was closed for repairs Tuesday morning.

Don't forget the meeting of the Royal Templars next Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

Good speaking at the meeting of the Christian Temperance Union to-night at the court-house.

Mr. Darsie preaches to-morrow night on the question "What must I do to be lost." All are invited.

The store-room on Main street formerly occupied by Dr. J. M. Mills as a drug store is being refitted and repaired.

Lindsay's Silver Star Concert Troupe of colored performers, from Lexington, will give an exhibition at Major Hall next Monday night, the 20th inst.

Jas. O'Herin, a brakeman on the freight train, in coupling cars at the stock pen, in Belle Point, Monday morning, had one of his hands badly mashed.

Judge Thos. F. Hargis arrived in the city Wednesday, and sat on the Bench of the Court of Appeals in the absence of Judge Hines at Bowling Green.

Esquire William A. Smoot has resigned his position as Magistrate in the Bald Knob district, and the Governor has appointed Mr. L. B. Witt his successor.

Work was commenced on the new distillery below the lock last week, and on last Saturday evening Col. E. H. Taylor, jr., paid $625 to the laboring men of Frankfort for one week's work.

Elder T. N. Arnold has been conducting a protracted meeting at the Pea Ridge School-house, in this county, the past two weeks, and has had thirteen additions to the Christian Church so far.

Mr. Maratta, the lessee of Mr. Jett's South Side livery stable, will have a fine lot of saddle and harness horses, new buggies, carriages, &c., next week. If you want good and, stylish turnouts at low rates, give him a call.

Mr. J. Russell Hawkins, jr., of this county, in the last two weeks, lost two very interesting children with a malignant type of diphtheria—only six days intervening between their deaths. Mr. Hawkins and wife have the sympathy of the entire community in which they live.

A country boy, about fifteen years of age, came to town Monday and imbibed freely of stagger juice until he felt in a fighting humor, when he tackled one of our town boys, who was quietly passing by, for a fight, and before he knew it his head was cut with a rock, his shirt bloody and dirty, and his beauty spoiled generally. Next time he comes to town he will probably leave his fighting clothes at home.

The sale of property for State and county taxes for the year 1870 has been postponed until after the meeting of the Circuit Court.

Old "probs" told us a week ago that we would have cooler weather, but still ice water is at a premium and overcoats are not to be thought of.

Cards are out for the marriage of Mr. Brent Moore, formerly of this city, and Miss Ella Colston, of Louisville. The interesting event will take place next Thursday, 23d inst.

The officers of the Feeble-minded Institute sent to our office last Tuesday a half bushel of fine sweet potatoes, that averaged four pounds in weight. They were splendid and we enjoyed them immensely, and now return our thanks for the same.

Some good angel, when we were nearly smothered with heat last Saturday, was kind enough to send us a small freezer of ice cream. It was enjoyed immensely by all hands, and unanimously pronounced the best they had ever tasted. We return thanks to the unknown friend, and assure her it was fully appreciated.

Major E. R. Smith, formerly of this city, died at his home, near Talladega, Alabama, last Friday. Although he had been a sufferer from consumption for several years, his death was a great shock to his many friends and relatives in this city. His remains reached here Monday morning and were interred in our beautiful city of the dead.

Last Tuesday morning Col. J. N. Crutcher, wife, and Mrs. D. C. Crutcher, with little Delma, started to the country in a spring wagon, and in passing up Main street the wheels dropped into a hole in front of Mr. J. M. Todd's grocery, the lurch overturning the back seat and throwing Mrs. D. C. Crutcher and little Delma out. Mrs. Crutcher was badly bruised, and had a dress ruined by the mud, but Delma was unhurt.

A convict made his escape from the South building, in course of erection, on Market street, Thursday morning. It seems that a discharged convict placed some citizen's clothes in the cellar of the building, and, watching his opportunity, the escaped convict went down, apparently to discharge some duties connected with the building, donned the clothes, came up, walked coolly by the guards, and going through Macklin's coal yard, was off in a hurry. The alarm was given in five minutes after the escape, and hot pursuit given, but he was not recaptured until Wednesday morning, near the mouth of Elkhorn, by Mr. Will. Pickett, one of the Guards.

The Kentucky Eclectic Institute.

This flourishing institution, now under the charge of Prof. W. E. Plumley, was visited yesterday afternoon by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Prof. Jos. D. Pickett, and Col. J. Stoddard Johnston, accompanied by several other prominent friends of the institution. All were pleasantly welcomed by the Principal and students, after which Messrs. Pickett and Johnston delivered appropriate addresses on the subject of education, signaling their well-known devotion to the good cause, and giving the scholars a great deal of good advice.

A lady friend who has had much experience in raising fowls informs us that a few drops of carbolic acid fed to chickens in a little dough will prevent chicken cholera, and will also cure the very worst cases in a very short time.

The many friends of Dr. J. M. Mills in this city will be greatly pained to learn that he met with a severe accident on Sunday, the 5th inst., whereby he will be lame for life and probably lose one of his limbs. A drought prevailing near Shelbyville, Illinois, where he lives, had caused a great many of the wells and cisterns to go dry, and the nearest water to the drug store, in which he was employed, was a well in the rear of a new building, and in order to reach it a person had to walk a narrow strip of plank laid on the sleepers of the first floor. The Doctor took a bucket and went to this well, and was returning with water, when the plank broke under him, precipitating him into a brick sewer at the bottom of a deep cellar, breaking both bones of the right leg just below the knee joint, and splitting the larger bone into the joint. Fortunately several gentlemen, among them a physician, saw him fall and he was immediately taken out and his injuries cared for. He was doing as well as he possibly could under the circumstances when last heard from.

JOB WORK A SPECIALTY

WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT.

A young man named Wm. Young, from Alton, Anderson county, was in town Thursday, and, as usual, got drunk. A lady happened to pass him on Market street when he caught and held her in his arms, handling her person in a very insulting manner. He was arrested immediately, and it cost him fifteen dollars before he could leave town. This fellow should think himself fortunate that he was allowed to leave at all with a whole skin.

As will be seen, by reference to the columns of announcements in this paper, Hon. John J. Orr, of Owen county, is announced as a candidate for the office of Circuit Judge of this, the eleventh judicial district. Mr. Orr is well known to many of our citizens, and needs no word of commendation from us; but to those who are unacquainted with him we would say that he is a gentleman of ability, having been practicing law for over twenty years, and, if elected, will, no doubt, serve the people faithfully and satisfactorily.

The Second Annual Convention of the Young Men's Christian Associations in Kentucky will be held in Danville, October 30th to November 2d. Reduced rates on all the railroads have been secured, and all who may attend are assured of a cordial welcome. Entertainment will be furnished by the citizens of Danville, than whom there are no more hospitable people in the State. The following is the programme of topics and business:

Contrary to Law.

Laboring men are complaining loudly of the management that permits the working of convicts on the Devil's Hollow pike. Whether the laboring men are really injuriously affected by the working out of convicts or not, so plain a violation of the law should not be permitted. Although an exceedingly clever man, the lessee of the prison stands on a level with the humblest citizen, and should be held to account just as rigidly. If he is not, people will say that the punishment for the violation of our laws depends altogether upon who is the guilty one.

That the prison is crowded is no excuse for working the prisoners contrary to law. The lessee has as much right to turn them loose at once. Besides, he knew the condition of the prison at the time he contracted with the State, and, from the way he prosecuted his claim against it, it would seem that an increase of prisoners would bring a corresponding increase of merriment.

Somebody, whose business it is to do so, should look into the matter, and relieve the already almost starving laboring men of Frankfort and vicinity. Here is another opportunity for the noble humanitarian and the head of our State government to distinguish himself as the friend of the poor and oppressed. The County Attorney has here presented to him a chance to show his gratitude to his humble constituents.

A Card.

FRANKFORT, KY., Oct. 14th, 1879.

Editors Roundabout:

DEAR SIRS.—Allow me, through the columns of your paper, to call the attention of certain parties to the following city law:

"Any person who shall, in any street within the city, run, race, or gallop a horse, mule, or ass, * * * or permit the same to be done, shall be fined for each offense ten dollars."

I saved the life of a little boy this evening at the peril of my own life, and if I ever have this to do again it will cost somebody something.

A Citizen.

Editor Roundabout:

Will you please give the following item a place in your paper:

To fill our orders for yarns we have been obliged to run our mills until 9:30 P. M. Part of our help are colored boys, who live on the pike above the arsenal. As they go home from work they are nightly set upon and beaten by the following white boys, who live in "Crawfish Bottom": Willie Schnieder, Burt Kincaid, Jas. Kincaid, Frank Rosen, Billy Rosen, Tom Irvin, Ed. Jones, Willie Branson, George Brown.

Should they still persist in this unlawful conduct the services of the Sheriff will be called to stop it.

Respectfully,

D. D. SPENCE.

Superintendent of Kentucky River Mills.

Editor Roundabout:

"Could every durnard, ere he sits to dine, Feel in his head the dizzy fumes of wine, No more would Bacchus chain the willing soul, But loathing horror, shun the poisoned bowl."

How many a young man, whose future was full of brilliant pride, has been ruined by excessive drinking? More than most people are aware of. Perhaps the cause of his misfortune may be known only to his own immediate friends, for there are drunkards whose pride keeps them from making any display of themselves when they are under the influence of liquor, and the solicitude of their relations saves them from conspicuous disgrace. But the time comes when they break down and pass out of sight. The doctors could tell the tale if they would reveal the secrets of their practice.

How many business and professional men, who are, perhaps, commonly supposed to have succumbed to overwork, have been upset by the bad habits of drinking. The main thing for these drunkards to understand is that they are invalids, and that they must treat themselves accordingly. They are truly poisoned invalids, and to effect a cure must practice self-denial—not give encouragement to an appetite which exceedingly sensulizes the soul by enthralling a bodily gratification which is a reproach to our species. Nothing can be more contrary to reason and humanity and to our common Father, than that one man should be inflaming his body with poisoned draughts even to excess, whilst another wants the very necessities of life, the expenses of which, if properly applied, would support the languishing and revive the health of those who are fainting for want of means to procure food. But when the man who indulges in intemperance and drunkenness is poor, whose income is but just enough, with frugality, to support himself and his family, his guilt is doubly aggravated, for then, whilst he is gratifying himself and rejoicing in his cup, he is breaking through the tenderest ties of nature; he is stripping his children of that which is necessary to clothe them from the cold; he is snatching the bread from the mouth of his little ones ready to famish for the want of food, and making a good wife suffer to extremity for his sensuality, and by its indulgence we become incapable of knowing God in his word or work here or of enjoying him hereafter.

Flee not only the train of present evils, which intemperance draws after it, but the wages of this shameful iniquity in the eternal world are revealed in Scripture to alarm the conscience and give us full conviction of this common sin. Let us, then, be temperate and persevere in an inviolable regard to sobriety and total abstinence upon which our safety and so much depends.

What it Means.

The great mathematician, Kirkman, translates into plain English the definition of evolution as follows: "Evolution is a change from a nohowish, nntalkaboutable, allalikeness, to a somehowish and ingeneral talkaboutable not allalikeness, by continuous somethingselfication and sticktogetherations." Be wise and pay your State and county taxes for 1879 before November 1st.

There is no time to be lost when a cough attacks one, in adopting means of prevention against consumption and bronchitis. A cough may, with perfect truth, be termed the incipient stage of those destructive maladies, and it is the height of folly to disregard it. If neglected, it will assuredly culminate in some dangerous pulmonary affection, but if DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS be used, the complaint is speedily vanquished and all danger averted. There is no panacea comparable to this great specific. Sold by Hughes & Chiles, Druggists.

To All Whom It May Concern.

After the Circuit Court had decided the case in favor of the Frankfort Colored Baptist Church in favor of the majority, the minority, in order to take the case to the Court of Appeals, had to advance $108 49 as security for costs. When the case was reversed by the Court of Appeals, on the 30th of March, 1876, an order was made that the costs should be paid out of the old Church funds ($1,000) held by the Treasurer, Tabley Smith, and the balance divided between the two factions according to membership. Tabley Smith and the Clerk, John Thomas, now deny that such an order was made, and refuse to give up the money. The matter has been investigated and it appears that this amount still remains in Smith's hands. In addition to this the following collections were taken up for the benefit of the minority Church, during the session of the Colored Baptist Association in this city, August, 1875:

August 12th, at Independent Baptist Church	$34 60
During the week, at same place....	12 00
August 19th, at same place	24 00
August 19th, at white Baptist Church	23 00
August 19th, at the Court-House....	7 15

Total $100 75

When Smith and Thomas were called upon for a report, they stated the amount of these collections to be $76, which was short of the real amount, $24 75.
